Chris Myers Asch
U.S. Public Service Academy
1225 I (Eye) Street NW, Suite 600
Washington, DC 20005

Any institution of higher learning must be a dream incubator, provoking visions and strategies for the future. It must be committed not merely to change, but to purpose. The U.S. Public Service Academy holds the potential to channel the idealist yearnings of our youngest generation into careers, and more importantly, lives of service. Our country requires a citizenry committed to the welfare of others, enlightened by the ideals of freedom and democracy, and ennobled by a purpose and vision to pursue truth and advance civilization.

I am confident that the U.S. Public Service Academy will serve as a training center for our next generation of leaders and constitutes a vital investment for our nation's future.

Sincerely,
